

Cutlery set

Product description

David Chipperfield's cutlery has simple handles that, despite their parallelepiped and apparently rigid shape, offer easy and ergonomic hold. Chipperfield strives for continuity of form: the cutting edge of the knife is a prolonging of the shape of the handle, thinned and slightly tapered, the side tines of the fork have their external sides parallel with the handle, and even the spoon has a slightly squared shape. "Santiago" is available in 18/10 stainless steel (1) or in the elegant black PVD version (2). The result is a line with simple and pleasing looks, well matched with the "Tonale" line by the same designer and also suitable for daily use.
